

Covid Injunction

When we are all at home, our neighbours make a real difference. Recently our solicitor Katrina had her hands full with a suspected drug dealing tenant. The defendant had around 20 to 30 visitors to his home each day along with the anti-social behaviour that went with it. So much for social distancing! Katrina made urgent application for an injunction and it was heard by the Wandsworth County Court.

It was decided that as well as the usual restrictions of causing ASB, the defendant is also not allowed to have any visitors to his home until the Government advice changes. In legal circles this is known as a Covid Injunction. A Covid Injunction is difficult to obtain as some Judges feel that it limits the freedom of people too much and essentially makes it a criminal matter if they do have visitors. This means that they could go to prison.

The police have been notified of the situation and will take further action when needed.

Great result for SBHA and for the long-suffering neighbours.

This is a standard quiz

This week we are not having our fabulous Pub Quiz but to make sure you are not suffering any quiz withdrawal we have put together a Social Housing Standards quiz. Not only do you have a chance of winning a £10 amazon voucher (we give away 2 vouchers) – you also have a refresher on what the standards are.

The winners will be chosen randomly from correct answers.

Start the quiz here or fill it out on this page.

If you are not sure about the standards anymore (it happens!) please have a full read here.

Thanks to everyone that signed up for Time for Tea last week.

Every week we will be matching up people to have a cuppa on their own terms. This could be just a 5-minute chat on Friday to talk about your weekend plans or about anything else. You can sign-up by filling out the form with your e-mail address if you want to take part in it.

People that sign up this week will be added to the existing list, so if you have already signed up you do not have to sign-up twice.

If you want to be taken off the list (🙏), please give Monique.vanderlinden@sbhg.co.uk a shout!

Honey Points

Another month has passed by and this usually means that we have our Honey Point winners. However, for this April month we want to do things a little differently. As many of you have Honey Points to Vincent to acknowledge his hard work and how much we will be missed, it only seems right to take this into account. This month we are not drawing any winners, but the money will be donated to the NHS.

Other people who received Honey Points in April will be added to the May draw, so will still have a chance of winning a £10 Amazon voucher!

Quiz with Liz

Thank you to everyone who stopped by The Staying Inn last Friday for our weekly quiz. We have 3 winners this week – well done to Stephen Wood, Clare Hemming and Fiona Cooke.

The Staying Inn will be back on Friday 15 May for the next quiz due to the bank holiday.

Victory in Europe day

On Friday 8 May it is the 75th Victory in Europe Day. Now that people are unable to attend any events, the Royal British Legion has organised some remote activities. Apart from a two minute of silence at 11am, the following activities are being planned.

- A live VE Day 75 livestream at 11.15am
- A UK-wide singalong to Vera Lynn's 'We'll Meet Again' at 9pm
- A VE Day learning pack for children aged 7-14 years
- An evening of memories and music in partnership with the BBC from 8pm on BBC One

Cake away!

As we will be having a day off on Friday 8 May (bank holiday, don't forget!) some of you might be wondering "what shall I do with this extra day?". Why not try to replicate Matt's Cream and Strawberry pancake cake? Matt is known for his free-styling but he has attempted to share his recipe/method with us.

Ingredients:

- Milk (about half a pint)
- Plain Flour
- 2 Eggs
- Oil
- Double cream (two large pots)
- Caster sugar
- Strawberries (the more the better)

Method

1. Make pancakes with milk, plain flour and eggs. You need to make enough for about 5 pancakes, so I'd say about half a pint of milk and water and two eggs and then add enough flour for quite a runny batter. It's easy to make more if you don't quite have enough. Fry the pancakes in a bit of oil and set them aside.
2. Whip some double cream and caster sugar so that the cream is thick enough to spread and as sweet as you like it to be. I used two large pots of double cream when I was making this.
3. Slice the strawberries, you want each slice to be about half a centimetre thick.
4. Take the cooled pancakes and cut them into wide strips. I think each pancake made about 4 strips.
5. Take a strip of pancake and spread it with cream. Then place a line of strawberry slices along the cream with the tip of the strawberry poking over the top of the slice. Then roll it up.
6. Repeat the same step with each slice of pancake, but when you go to roll it up, add the rolled-up slices that you have already made, so that the new slice is rolling around the outside of the ones already rolled up. In this way, each time you add a new slice you're effectively wrapping it round the side of the cake and making it bigger. It's a bit fiddly when you first start, but you'll soon get the hang of it. Stop when you run out of ingredients.
7. Put the whole thing in the fridge for until you're ready to serve it.

Let us know how you got on and if you have any recipes that you enjoy making, please share them here

Teams roundup!

1 - Louis is cute as ever and charmed us with his (already) cheeky smile! Look at that! :)

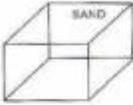

2 - Andreas took the scissors to hand and free-styled... he came to the conclusion that becoming a barber is not in the cards for him.

3 - Joanna and Miko were matched for Time for Tea, and had a lovely conversation via Teams.
